

LISTENER GUIDE

An Ongoing Call to Seek Him Together

by Nancy Leigh DeMoss (True Woman '12)

Story of the Mount of Transfiguration

- The glory of God and the glory of Christ was so magnificent,
- Peter wanted to stay in that place where everything was so amazing.
- But Jesus knew that they weren't supposed to stay here.

It's easy to seek the Lord together at a conference, with great sisters. And we want to stay in that place. But that's not God's way. _____ isn't here and now. It's then and there. We've got a long road between here and there.

Encourage you to breathe _____ and breathe _____.

- When Jesus sends you down from the mountaintop back into the valley, He doesn't send you down there alone. He goes with you.
- The God of glory that you see on the mountaintop is also the God of grace who will go with you down into that valley.

You cannot go in your own _____—you will _____.

- Only _____ in you can be like Jesus.
- When you fail, humble yourself and cry out to God for grace.

God can use your influence. But be patient; wait for God's timing and harvest. Don't grow weary in well doing. Don't let the enemy cause you to throw in the towel because it doesn't happen right away. Be sensitive to the Holy Spirit and to those around you.

Praying for Specific Groups of Women

Mothers and Grandmothers of Prodigal Children

Pray that the Lord would . . .

- Arrest the heart of every child.
- Weave together a web of events, so they can't escape His plan for their lives.
- Cancel any assignments that the enemy has against them.
- Give mothers and grandmothers an extra measure of His patience, peace, and joy.
- Give them longsuffering in their prayer.

Pastors' Wives

Pray that . . .

- The Lord would strengthen them emotionally, spiritually, psychologically, and physically.

- They would honor the Lord in their marriages.
- They would encourage their husbands, build them up, and stand beside them.
- They would be careful to choose the right and the best things.
- Their lives would be pure and holy,
- The Lord would help them to honor Him in every way.
- They would have a gentle quiet spirit as they walk in His Word and will.

Teenage Girls and Their Mothers

Pray that . . .

- They would fill their hearts with truth.
- They would live above the lies of this culture.
- Their prayer lives would be a living, loving conversation with the Lord.
- They would live pure, godly, self-controlled lives in this corrupt generation.

Women Struggling in their Marriages

Pray that . . .

- They would walk in humility before the Lord and live lives of worship.
- God would give them a desire to glorify Him in their marriages.
- Revival would begin in their hearts and that it would overflow into their marriages and homes.
- God would do an Ephesians 3:20 work in their marriages and homes that would affect their children, other marriages, their churches, and their communities.
- God would bring revival and a demonstration of the gospel through their marriages.

Single Women

Pray for . . .

- The helping, healing, hopeful hand of Jesus into each of their lives.
- Those who are longing for a godly husband—that the Lord would grant the desire of their hearts if that is His will, and that however He answers, those desires would not become demands.
- God to satisfy their souls, in a deep way, and in the way that only Christ can.
- That the Lord would meet their financial, physical, and protection needs.
- That those who are lonely would know the Lord is with them.
- They would serve the Lord with wholehearted, undivided distraction.

For those of us saying “Lord, send revival and start it in me.”

Pray that the Lord would . . .

- Awaken our hearts.
- Give us tenacity in seeking Him.
- Help us to be women who display His glory in the way He created us.
- Reveal sin in our lives.
- Remove all obstacles that keep us from experiencing His fullness, grace, freedom, and power.
- Pour out a spirit of repentance, humility, and brokenness into our lives.

LISTENER GUIDE ANSWER KEY

An Ongoing Call to Seek Him Together

by Nancy Leigh DeMoss (True Woman '12)

Story of the Mount of Transfiguration

- The glory of God and the glory of Christ was so magnificent,
- Peter wanted to stay in that place where everything was so amazing.
- But Jesus knew that they weren't supposed to stay here.

It's easy to seek the Lord together at a conference, with great sisters. And we want to stay in that place. But that's not God's way. Ultimate glory isn't here and now. It's then and there. We've got a long road between here and there.

Encourage you to breathe grace in and breathe grace out.

- When Jesus sends you down from the mountaintop back into the valley, He doesn't send you down there alone. He goes with you.
- The God of glory that you see on the mountaintop is also the God of grace who will go with you down into that valley.

You cannot go in your own strength—you will fail.

- Only Jesus in you can be like Jesus.
- When you fail, humble yourself and cry out to God for grace.

God can use your influence. But be patient; wait for God's timing and harvest. Don't grow weary in well doing. Don't let the enemy cause you to throw in the towel because it doesn't happen right away. Be sensitive to the Holy Spirit and to those around you.

Praying for Specific Groups of Women

Mothers and Grandmothers of Prodigal Children

Pray that the Lord would . . .

- Arrest the heart of every child.
- Weave together a web of events, so they can't escape His plan for their lives.
- Cancel any assignments that the enemy has against them.
- Give mothers and grandmothers an extra measure of His patience, peace, and joy.
- Give them longsuffering in their prayer.

Pastors' Wives

Pray that . . .

- The Lord would strengthen them emotionally, spiritually, psychologically, and physically.
- They would honor the Lord in their marriages.

- They would encourage their husbands, build them up, and stand beside them.
- They would be careful to choose the right and the best things.
- Their lives would be pure and holy,
- The Lord would help them to honor Him in every way.
- They would have a gentle quiet spirit as they walk in His Word and will.

Teenage Girls and Their Mothers

Pray that . . .

- They would fill their hearts with truth.
- They would live above the lies of this culture.
- Their prayer lives would be a living, loving conversation with the Lord.
- They would live pure, godly, self-controlled lives in this corrupt generation.

Women Struggling in their Marriages

Pray that . . .

- They would walk in humility before the Lord and live lives of worship.
- God would give them a desire to glorify Him in their marriages.
- Revival would begin in their hearts and that it would overflow into their marriages and homes.
- God would do an Ephesians 3:20 work in their marriages and homes that would affect their children, other marriages, their churches, and their communities.
- God would bring revival and a demonstration of the gospel through their marriages.

Single Women

Pray for . . .

- The helping, healing, hopeful hand of Jesus into each of their lives.
- Those who are longing for a godly husband—that the Lord would grant the desire of their hearts if that is His will, and that however He answers, those desires would not become demands.
- God to satisfy their souls, in a deep way, and in the way that only Christ can.
- That the Lord would meet their financial, physical, and protection needs.
- That those who are lonely would know the Lord is with them.
- They would serve the Lord with wholehearted, undivided distraction.

For those of us saying “Lord, send revival and start it in me.”

Pray that the Lord would . . .

- Awaken our hearts.
- Give us tenacity in seeking Him.
- Help us to be women who display His glory in the way He created us.
- Reveal sin in our lives.
- Remove all obstacles that keep us from experiencing His fullness, grace, freedom, and power.
- Pour out a spirit of repentance, humility, and brokenness into our lives.